JANESVILLE, WISCONSIN, TUESDAY, JUNE 20, 1882.

Published Every Evening Except Sunday, at $4 a Year.

NUMBER 83

There is every prospect now that the 30th instant will be a day of rejoicing.

The total amount of the school fund apportionment among the counties in Wisconsin for 1882, is $184,763.63.

The House of Representatives passed the annual pension bill amounting to $100,000,000. It is said that it passed under the suspension of the rules, and even without a yea and nay vote.

A brother of Wilbur F. Storey, of the Chicago Times, is pastor of a Methodist church at Chester, Ill. All good people will deeply sympathize with the brother at Chester in his misfortune to be related to the proprietor of the Chicago Times.

It is said that Mr. Ingersoll, the brilliant Washington lawyer who has gone insane, is attorney in the Christianity divorce case. When a man, of ordinary sensibilities mixes with the Christianity crowd, the remorse is enough to drive him to insanity.

Those who have been hunting Mr. Blaine are convinced by this time that there was not much fun in the hunt, and things have turned out very much as a Frenchman once said: "When you hunt see lion, you have great sport, but when see lion hunt you, score!"

In the South the wheat harvest is progressing rapidly, and the indications point to the fact that the yield will be quite large. It is said that grain cutting advances Northward at the rate of about eleven miles a day. In Texas the harvest began in the first week in May, and in Manitoba the cutting will begin about the middle of September. The Manitoba wheat was not sown until after the Texas crop was harvested.

There are a great many persons in Rock county who will be glad to hear that Judge J. B. Cassoday, of the Supreme Court, has consented to deliver the oration at the celebration in Janesville on the 4th of July. This will meet the approval of everybody without regard to political creed or religious opinions. He is so upright a man, so thoroughly patriotic, and so manly and able in dealing with the questions which will naturally come up for discussion on that day, that the people will hear him gladly and will be profited by what he will say.

The liquor dealers of this State have just closed a convention in Milwaukee. Among the planks in the platform which they adopted was one demanding "for the manufacturers of and dealers in beer, wine and alcoholic liquors the same protection and privileges which are accorded to every other branch of industry and commerce." They also resolved that they would form protective societies in every town, village, city and county in the State, to resist the enactment of all laws which tends to prohibit or restrict the manufacture and sale of liquor.

Justice Bradley of the United States Supreme Court has given the final decision in the case of Guiteau, who, through his attorney, applied for a writ of habeas corpus. Justice Bradley denied the writ on the ground that the court of the District of Columbia, which tried the assassin, had full jurisdiction of the case. This ends the matter, and Guiteau will be hanged according to the published programme, on the 30th instant. It is not possible that the President will interfere either by granting a respite or a commutation of the sentence. The jailer thinks the wretch will go all to pieces before the day for the hanging, at least pretend that he is absolutely insane and a physical wreck, but Mr. Hicks, his spiritual adviser, thinks he will march to the gallows with an unflinching tread.

An effort has been made to induce Colonel Oakley, of Madison, to enter the contest for Congress against Mr. Hazelton, but advice from Madison say that he positively declines to be a candidate. Those who are opposed to Mr. Keyes' candidacy, are said to be in favor of General E. E. Bryant, and if he is brought out the prospects for a lively contest in the Third district are exceedingly flattering. Mr. Hazelton is working hard for a renomination, and though he has not yet been home to repair his political fences, it is understood that he will make a strong fight when the proper time comes. In all probability, he will succeed, as Dane county will not be able to make any compact with other delegates to carry the district against him. It would seem to an outsider that Dane may as well give up its congressional aspirations this year. It seems to be unfortunately apportioned.

It seems that the Vassar are not yet through with charitable giving. John Guy Vassar, nephew of the founder of Vassar College, will give the college $50,000 for a specific purpose providing a like sum can be raised from other sources. He and his brother will also build at Poughkeepsie a home for aged men at a cost of $75,000, and will soon begin a hospital which will cost $300,000. He will also build another public institution at a cost of $30,000 for scientific purposes. Thus the Vassar are rapidly adding to the charitable and educational institutions of our country. When Matthew Vassar founded the female college bearing his name he probably little thought of the far-reaching influence that beneficent aid would have upon the entire Vassar family. One by one they have come to the front as public benefactors and generous philanthropists, until their names are an honor to the country.

BURIED IN THE SNOW.

New York, June 19.—The following is a special cable dispatch to the New York Herald:

LONDON, June 19.—W. H. Gilder, the Herald correspondent with the Rogers, sends the following dispatch:

LENA DELTA, April 12 1882.—Melville found the bodies of De Long's party March 23. They were in two places, 500 and 1,000 yards from the wreck of the scow. Melville's search party first started from the supply depot (here two words are unintelligible) to follow the Ninderman route from Yesterday to Malvey and afterwards from Malvey back toward Yesterday. (The following sentence is again unintelligible.) They stopped at the place which Ninderman and Naros passed the first day after they left DeLong, feeling sure that the others had not got much further. There they found the wreck, and following along the bank they came upon a rifle barrel hung upon four sticks (here six words are unintelligible). They set the natives digging on each side of the sticks and they soon came upon two bodies under eight feet of snow.

While these men were digging toward the east, Melville went along the bank twenty feet above the river, to find a place to take the bearings. He then saw a camp-kettle and the remains of a fire about 1,500 yards from the tent, and approaching nearly straight upon DeLong's hand sticking out of the snow about thirty feet from the edge of the bank. Here, under about a foot of snow, they found the bodies of DeLong and Amble about three feet apart, and Ah Sam lying at their feet, all partially covered by pieces of tent and a few pieces of blanket. All the others except Ah Sam they found at the place where the tent was pitched. Lee and Knack were close by in a cleft in the bank toward the west. Two boxes of records, with the medicine chest and a flag on a staff, were beside the tent. None of the dead had boots. Their feet were covered with rags. In the pockets of all were pieces of burnt skin and of clothing which they had eaten. The hands of all were more or less burnt, and it looked as if, when dying, they had crawled into the fire. Boyd lying on in the fire and his clothing being burnt through to the skin, which was not burnt. Collins' face was covered with a cloth.

All the bodies were carried to the top of a hill 300 feet high, about forty yards to the southwest from where they were found, and there interred in a temporary mound constructed of wood from the scow, built in the form of a pyramid, 22 feet long and 7 feet high, surrounded by a cross 22 feet high and a foot square, and a cross of twelve yards. The mound was covered with stones and is to be sodded in the spring. The cross is inscribed with the record and names of the dead, cut in by the search party.

After completing the tomb the party separated, to search the delta for traces of Chipp's people. Melville went to the northwest part of the delta and west as far as the Olenek river; Ninderman took the center, and Bartlett the northeast. Ninderman and Bartlett found nothing. Melville has not yet returned. The search is to be extended to Cape Borshaya and the bay of that name. They expect to finish in time to reach Yakouta or Verkhovansk before the rivers break up. If they do not finish before that time they will have to retreat to the foot of the hills and mountains with the natives until the water falls, as the whole of the delta is covered with water to the spring to a height of four feet, and in some places to twenty feet above the level of the river. Otherwise they would have buried the dead where they found them. There were fourteen occupants of the first cutter, under Lieutenant DeLong. Of these, Ninderman and Naros left their country to obtain assistance, and were cared for by the natives. Erickson, the seaman, died October 7, as appears from DeLong's records subsequently discovered.

LONDON FISH EXHIBITION.

WASHINGTON, June 19.—Chairman Williams, of the House committee on foreign affairs, has submitted to the House a report on the joint resolution recently agreed upon by the committee proposing an appropriation of $50,000 to furnish an American exhibit at the London Fish Exhibition to be held in May, 1883. The report, in urging the advantages to be derived from a participation in the exhibition, says: "One of the immediate results of the participation by this Government in the exhibition at Berlin, in 1880, was the establishment of agencies for the sale of American fish products in nearly every country in Europe. As another result American boneless codfish has been adopted as a standard article of food by the German army, and the introduction into the Commissary Department of the navies of Germany and Russia is seriously contemplated. The consumption of pickled fish in Europe is known to be immense and yet American pickled fish, the finest in the world, is scarcely known there. * * * The export of these goods from the United States to Europe in 1869, amounted in value to $184,763, and in 1881 to $1,902,100. This can, and should be, increased a hundred-fold." The report in conclusion urges the adoption of the resolution.

WIDESPREAD RUIN.

DES MOINES, June 19.—The Iowa cyclone began in Ogden and moved along above the surface of the ground until reaching Sheldahl, where it descended and destroyed a number of houses and barns. Then it rose and moved to within a few miles of Grinnell, where demolition, it swooped down on the west end of the corporation line, and passed nearly across the residence portion of the town, then turned southeast through another portion of the city of the same class, and left town, having traversed more than a mile of a thickly settled neighborhood. It moved on to the town of Malcolm, where its force was somewhat expended; thence to Mount Pleasant, after which its force was lost entirely.

There are from sixty to seventy of the victims now dead, and over one hundred seriously wounded. Crops in the pathway of the cyclone are entirely ruined. At Sheldahl a number of houses were destroyed. Near Grinnell houses were blown to fragments, and several people were killed and wounded. At least sixty-five houses were destroyed in Grinnell, and two trains were derailed, killing both men and live stock. At Malcolm two churches and a large number of dwellings and barns were destroyed, and eight persons killed and many wounded. At Mount Pleasant churches and buildings were destroyed, and several persons injured. Thousands of shade trees were wisted and broken.

Those who witnessed the destruction say that the track was a blazing electric light, giving forth a volume of sparks and flames. The damage at Grinnell will be at least $500,000; at Malcolm $100,000, and at Mount Pleasant $150,000. Further reports from the pathway of the Iowa cyclone from localities off the lines of railroads indicate that a great amount of damage to property and loss of life will largely increase the former estimates, and the probabilities that a week will elapse before all the casualties are known. The telegraph lines have all been down, and it is impossible to transmit reports.

The Iowa State Leader has opened a headquarters for the reception of a relief fund for the destitute sufferers. Over $1,000 was raised in Des Moines this evening. Two thousand persons will require more or less aid immediately. The funeral services held at Grinnell this afternoon were attended by at least 3,000 persons. The scene was the most harrowing imaginable.

BREACH OF PROMISE.

MILWAUKEE, June 19.—Jacob W. Rody, the wealthy and aged citizen of Mayville, Dodge county, who has been sued by Miss Elizabeth Collins for breach of promise, will take a change of venue to his own circuit. Mr. Ackerman, attorney for the plaintiff, will not allow the case to be tried there, and considerable time must elapse before the trial comes on. Miss Collins claims that Rody last winter promised her marriage and made all the necessary arrangements for the wedding, which was to have come off last April. The young lady is 18 years old and the defendant is upward of 60. The amount of the damages asked for is $25,000. According to the complaint, Rody came here at the time fixed for the wedding, but suddenly left the city, and has given no account of himself since. The parties are well-known, and at Beaver Dam, the young lady's former place of residence, she is popular in society. Her home has been with Capt. J. M. Lawrence, in Milwaukee. The J. M. Lawrence is not suitable for publication. Rody was Colonel of the Tenth Wisconsin Infantry and is a man of distinction in Dodge county. He has been a widower for three years. He has engaged Senator Delaney and Judge Lamereaux to defend him.

COWLES AND THE BISHOP.

CLEVELAND, June 19.—The trial of Mr. Edwin Cowles, editor of the Leader, on a charge of assault and battery upon the person of Father Honck, the emissary of Bishop Gilmore, occurred this afternoon and attracted much attention. The entire editorial staff of the Leader, besides Bishop Gilmore and several of his assistants, including Father Honck, were on the stand as witnesses. Aside from the positively impressive manner in which Mr. Cowles gave his testimony, in which Bishop Gilmore was denounced as a liar, the trial brought out no special features. At the conclusion of the trial Justice Babcock found Mr. Cowles guilty and fined him the costs.

Victims Acknowledged.
Mrs. Ira Mulholland, Albany, N. Y., writes: "For several years I have suffered from off-remembering, biliousness, dyspepsia, and complaints peculiar to my sex. Since using your Brunner's Bitters I am entirely relieved." Price $1.00.
For sale by A. J. Roberts and Sherer & Co.

THE OREGON ELECTION.

PORTLAND, June 19.—Owing to the prostration of the telegraph lines to Eastern Oregon, it is impossible to obtain the official vote on the State election. George, for Congress, will have over 3,000 majority; Moody, for Governor, 2,000; and the remainder of the Republican ticket from 1,200 to 2,500. The Legislature stands: Lower House, Republicans thirty-seven, Democrats twenty-two. Senate, Republicans sixteen, Democrats fourteen. Majority on joint ballot seventeen. This does not include the tie on representative in Yamhill county, for which a new election has been ordered. Should a Republican be elected the majority will be eighteen; if a Democrat, the majority will be sixteen.

NO HOPE.

MILWAUKEE, June 19.—All hopes of a compromise between the employees of the Day View Rolling Mills and the officials of the company were to-day given up. A conference was held this afternoon which was short and to the point. The men tonight are as determined as ever to "stick it out," while the company say they did not really expect to effect a compromise, and, in fact, were rather indifferent as to whether they did or not.

Milton.

—Commencement week at Milton college. Annual sermon before the Young Men's Christian association, Friday evening, June 23. Lecture before the Iduna and Philomathean societies, by Rev. T. J. McMurray, on Saturday evening, June 24. Subject—"Hobbies and their riders." Baccalaureate sermon by President T. B. Williams, D. D., Sunday evening, June 25.

—Commencement session of the Orophian lyceum, Monday evening, June 26. Grand concert by the Choral Union, Tuesday afternoon, June 27, at the S. D. B. church.

—Joint commencement session of the Iduna and Philomathean societies, Tuesday evening, June 27. The above exercises, with the exception of the concert, will take place in the College Chapel and deserve a liberal patronage.

—Commencement exercises Wednesday at 10 a. m. June 28. Alumni meeting and cadet drill Wednesday at 3 p. m. The above exercises will be held on College Campus. Senior Concert by the Milton Cornet Band, assisted by Miss Clara M. Dunn, elocutionist, W. C. Anderson, basso, and other talent, Wednesday evening June 28 at the Seventh-day Baptist Church.

—The programme for Commencement Day proper promises to be of more than ordinary interest and a cordial invitation is extended to the public to be present. A large number of the former students and graduates of the college have signified their intention to be present, which will add very much to the interest of the Alumni meeting on Wednesday afternoon.

—Pres. and Mrs. Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Dunn, and Miss Green, of Milton, spent the day at the new water yesterday.—Whitewater Register.

—The Iduna lyceum presented an entertainment at college chapel on the evening of the 15th inst. and were greeted with crowded house. The presiding officer, Miss Edna Burdick, called the audience to order and after prayer by President Whitton the following programme was presented:

Recitations—"Persuasions of valley, mountain, river and sea"—by Misses Ella Richardson, Libbie Steer, Eda Crandall and Laura Booth. The young ladies gave their recitations in a finished and pleasing manner.

Song—"Who will buy my roses, red"—Miss Ida B. Tanner. Series—comic operetta—"Diamond Cut Diamond"—Miss Metta Clarke and D. F. Brown. Miss Edna Burdick accompanied. This was presented in costume and very well sung, making a pleasing impression on the audience.

Broadsides—Misses Ransom, Wright, McFarlane, Henry, Walker and Miller, the squad being under command of Captainess Thompson. The Amazons marched onto the stage to the music of the piano, and went through the manual of arms with much skill and grace. A hearty encore brought them before the audience again, with some new movements that evinced their knowledge of how the useful household utensil should be manipulated. The cadets will have to look to their laurels or the fair maidens will win the next prize.

Musio, "Good Night"—Solo and quartette, Misses Tanner, Wheeler, Babcock and Coon, and Mark Place. —The Whitton family from Minnesota on Friday. He is well tanned, and his health is much improved. —See the new silverware at Clarke's.

—J. F. Johnson and his son and daughter have gone to Davis Junction, Ill., where George will run a meat market. He is the best wishes of their Milton friends for future health and prosperity.

—Alvin Clarke had six lambs killed by wolves, or dogs, last Wednesday night. —Coroner C. R. Matson and family came up from Chicago last Tuesday to attend the Whitewater reunion, and took advantage of the occasion to visit their Milton friends.

—A large delegation of the Thirteenth boys and their families took in the reunion. They all say that it was the best time they ever had. —H. P. Clarke, leader of the Broadhead Band will play with our Band on Commencement Day. He is a fine musician. —M. L. Lewis left on Wednesday for St. Paul. He is going out on a pleasure trip to Montana via the N. P. railroad. —C. M. Post accompanied the Bower City Band to Whitewater on Thursday as a solo alto.

—Mr. Smart is digging the cellar for his new house on Plumb avenue, and J. M. Haller has the lumber on the ground for his new dwelling. —Davis Bros., have their shop in running order and have just put in a large lathe for turning iron, which with their other machinery is run by steam. —Plumb avenue is destined to be a lively place. —Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Draper, who have been visiting relatives here for some time past, departed on Monday for Madison. —M. Del Burdick has finished her school in Dane county and is at home again.

—Alvin Clarke left on Monday to visit his grandfather and relatives in New York and Rhode Island. —Programme joint session of the Iduna and Philomathean societies:
